

The book cover features a central illustration of a brown llama with a friendly expression, looking directly at the viewer. To its right stands a mallard duck with a green head and brown body. The scene is set in a lush garden with green grass, blue and purple flowers, and branches with green leaves and small pink blossoms. The background is a light blue sky with soft white clouds. The title is written in a large, purple, cursive font, surrounded by small purple flower icons.
